

CANADA GAS & LNG EXHIBITION AND CONFERENCE DEMONSTRATES NATION'S LEADERSHIP AND EXPERTISE IN THE GLOBAL GAS INDUSTRY

Hosted by dmg events, Eighth Annual Canada Gas & LNG Event Returns to Vancouver on May 10, 2022

VANCOUVER, BC (May 3, 2022) - The Canada Gas & LNG Exhibition and Conference \(CGLNG\) is returning to the Vancouver Convention Centre from May 10 – May 12, 2022. The eighth annual event brings together notable players from across the industry, including representatives of major projects, governments, and First Nations communities, to redefine the energy conversation in Canada. Attendees can expect to hear from a significant lineup of speakers, including former Premier of British Columbia, Christy Clark; Government of Alberta's Associate Minister Natural Gas, Dale Nally; President of Canadian Global Affairs Institute, Kelly Ogle; CEO of First Nations LNG Alliance, Karen Ogen-Toews; and more.

CGLNG will welcome more than 80 influential speakers from leading energy companies, 500+ senior-level delegates and over 5,000 industry professionals. Over the course of the three-day program, speakers and delegates will address the latest benefits and challenges of the dynamic Canadian natural gas market and discuss how LNG can be a strong enabler of the energy transition. In addition to the 85+ strategic and technical sessions, attendees will have networking and business development opportunities throughout the event.

"Alberta and British Columbia fields have generations' worth of abundant natural gas. As a high-level strategic conference, exhibitions and speaker sessions play a vital role in bringing together industry leaders to identify opportunities, challenges and solutions facing the Canadian gas and LNG sector," stated Nick Samain, Vice President, Energy, dmg events. "We are so excited to bring CGLNG back to Vancouver, a city that has long been a predominant hub for LNG businesses across Canada, and foster conversations that are crucial to growing Canada's economy and developing greater global LNG businesses.

The CLNG Exhibition will offer one-on-one interactive Q&A sessions hosted by more than 50 exhibitor organizations, along with local and global energy value chains showcasing the latest natural gas and LNG innovative technologies, equipment, products, and services. Attendees will have the opportunity to meet energy experts and industry professionals as they hear about major products in Canada including Newfoundland Labrador LNG, Woodfibre LNG, LNG Canada, and projects in the Northwest Territories.

Vancouver-based oil and gas company Woodfibre LNG is thrilled to be sharing the stage this year with CGLNG to discuss their first Indigenous approved project and the impact it will have on job opportunities within the energy sector, and what this means in regards to steps toward reconciliation. An estimated 50 to 100 First Nations representatives are expected to attend and collaborate on how to build future opportunities for all communities.
